

The Story of Infinity

Prolog

The Labyrinth of Space

An endless horizon.
In front of that – a mountain panorama.
In front of that – woods.
In front of that – a deep river.
In front of that – a great garden.
In front of that – yard of stones.
In front of that – doors.
And in front of that – you.

You open the doors and step into the yard.
Finally the open sky is above your head again!
For days there was rain.
Today the sun came out for the first time.
You breath in and have a taste of pure well smelling air.
That must be freedom!

And thus...
The view into this wide space is somehow uncomfortable.
The infinity of the horizon is suppressing some how.
You could walk through the garden.
You could cross the river through the near ford.
You know the way into the woods.
You know a path into the mountains...

And thus you will never reach it.
The horizon.

The prison of infinity looks like a labyrinth.
One will find an endless number of possibilities.
All of them lead into nothingness.
All of them lead away from you...

Of course.
You could follow them.
You could go for a trip.
You could do so much...
And thus - you would never reach it!
The horizon...

What does it mean to you?
Freedom?
If it is like that - you are jailed!
Jailed in the labyrinth of infinity!
Jailed within the walls of your senses!
Jailed within the reducing of your body!
NO!
That's not freedom...

That's illusion.
One of which you may guess an change in a point.
But it is and will be given to you.
Where do you find freedom?
How do you find freedom?
What follows freedom if reached?

As long as you ask yourself questions like this you stay jailed!
Dreaming...
Is a dream something of freedom?
Inside it you are the only creator of your world!
Is that so?
Or is a dream just a puppet?
Steered of strings of your subconsciousness?
Steered of your experiences within the labyrinth?
I can't tell you about freedom!
If I was free we would never have met!
I am looking for it by my self and stumble together with you around here...

We don't have to do this together.
But we could.

For Praha
the whole wide world for you and only thanks

You are on this party.

With no invitation!

Not to say that you would be not welcome – that's a difference!

But nobody invited you...

That doesn't matter!

You are here.

The music is loud and good
and there must be a lot to drink!

You are still standing in the hall.

Do you get rid of your shoes or do you walk into the kitchen as you are?

What do you do?

“Cool!”

A girl stands aside you.

You like her a once!

“At least somebody with manners.”

She smiles at you.

“Come – the others are waiting! We play a game.”

Do you follow her or do you go into the bathroom to check your dress?

What do you do?

Follow the girl → page 75

You are in darkness.

“Fuck the switches – they burn all the time here!”
Her soft voice calms you...
“Wait for short. I’ll change them.”

The light turns on again.

But you are somewhere else!
You are within the living room.

Alone.
Around you exists the normal chaos of a party.

You could take a drink!

Do you go into the kitchen or into the sleeping chamber next door?

What do you do?

Kitchen → page 31
sleeping chamber → page 13

You are in front of the kitchen door...

On the other side you listen to funny things.
Laughing – the sounds of glasses – music.

Beside you there is a girl – she whispers something into your ear of which you are not certain to have understood.

Do you put your hand on her shoulder or do you open the door?

What do you do?

hand on shoulder → page 89
door → page 23

In here it doesn't smell good.

The floor sticks to your shoes and the lights flicker.

The mirror above the basin is broken.

You see yourself double – but you are looking good!

That's going to be your night!

Suddenly the lights turn off...

Do you call for somebody or do you take out your lighter?

What do you do?

lighter → page 15

You step into a room of overwhelming beauty!

There is the song of Jhonny Cash - I walk the line.

It smells a bit like perfume and candles.
The lights are low and comfortable.

The blanket has pictures of roses on it.
You find a little book on it.

Do you take it or do you go into the kitchen?

What do you do?

- click -

You find yourself on the balcony.

It is freezing cold – the fist ice of the year hits you!

A little cat walks by...

You didn't notice it at first – it is pitch black.

Do you touch her or do you go into the kitchen next door?

What do you do?

kitchen → page 9

It's a nice book.
Pure and handy.

“The Story of Infinity” is written on it.

Do you start reading or do you go into the kitchen at least?

What do you do?

reading → page 43
kitchen → page 55

You read:

You are on this party.

With no invitation!

Not to say that you would be not welcome – that's a difference!

But nobody invited you...

That doesn't matter!

You are here.

The music is loud and good
and there must be a lot to drink!

You are still standing in the hall.

Do you get rid of your shoes or do you walk into the kitchen
as you are?

What do you do

She purrs...

“You can’t escape of me!”

You think she smiles.

You are irritated – but you like her touch.

It gets warm at your hips.

-FUCK-

You are not sure – but you think you’ve pissed your pants!

Do you go into the bathroom or into the kitchen?

What do you do?

kitchen → page 77

The lights turn off!

You are in darkness...

Now you remember what the girl had said.

“Read the book – it is on my bed...”

Do you look for her sleeping chamber or do you switch on your lighter?

What do you do?

You are on this party.

With no invitation!

Not to say that you would be not welcome – that's a difference!

But nobody invited you...

That doesn't matter!

You are here.

The music is loud and good
and there must be a lot to drink!

You are still standing in the hall.

Do you get rid of your shoes or do you walk into the kitchen
as you are?

What do you do

“Super!”

A girl stands beside you.

You like her at once!

“At least someone with manners.”

She smiles at you.

“Come – the others are waiting! We are playing a game.”

Do you follow her or do you go to the bathroom to check your dress?

What do you do?

follow → page 53

You are in darkness.

“Fucking switches – they burn every now and then in here!”
Her soft voice calms you...

“Wait. I’ll fix it.”

The lights turn on again.

But you are somewhere else!
You are within the living room.

Alone.
Around you is the normal chaos of a party.

You could take a drink!

Do you go into the kitchen or into the sleeping chamber
next door?

It stinks in here.

The floor sticks to your feet and the lights flicker.

The mirror above the basin is broken.
You see yourself in double – but you are looking great!

This is going to be your night!

All of a sudden the lights turn off...

Do you call for somebody or do you take out your lighter?

What do you do?

You step into a room of overwhelming beauty!

There is the song of Jhonny Cash – so doggone lonesome.

It smells a bit of perfume and candles.

The lights are low and comfortable.

The blanket has pictures of roses on it.

You see a little book an it.

Do you take it or do you go into the kitchen for now?

What do you do?

kitchen → 31

This page you should never have been looking at!

So if you followed the rules gently!

Ok now that you are here...

You are trapped in here!

Within this book.

Both of us.

To take it concrete you alone - I do not exist!

The voice that you here is in your head alone - so it is YOU...

But now that you are here - put the book aside!

It's not worth reading further...

- snip -

You are on the balcony.

It is freezing cold – the first ice of the year hits you!

A little kiddy cat walks around you...

You didn't see it in the first moment – it is pitch black.

Do you touch it or do you go into the kitchen next door?

What do you do?

kiddy cat → page 67

So you are on this party.

As a guest without an invitation!
Not as a unwelcome guest – that's a difference!
But nobody has invited you...

It doesn't matter!
You are here.
The music is loud and good and there is a lot of weed in here for certain!

You are still in the hallway.

Do you put off your shoes or do you go into the kitchen as you are?

What do you do?
